

Testimonials:

“CJSW have become figureheads for everything that’s truly happening in Calgary’s music scene. Their staff are incredibly supportive and friendly. They have supported us in many ways over the past few years, sponsoring and hosting an EP release show, support in booking and networking, and hosting us live on air twice now.

CJSW is always working towards improving the quality of their live session production, they look and sound great! These sessions are an incredibly valuable resource - not just serving as an archive of musicians in Calgary, but also as valuable materials for each artist that comes on air in the form of professionally produced live videos for their social media and press materials.

Our last time playing live on CJSW was during our summer tour through Western Canada. They were incredibly accommodating, and our interview that coincided was fun and engaging. It was incredibly clear that they had been keeping tabs on what we had been up to, which was so cool to hear and experience!

We would highly recommend CJSW not just as an incredible radio station with inclusive and diverse programming but also as an important organization for the musicians and music community in Calgary.” - Gratuitous Platypus

“The live sessions in particular have been such an organic way for sound artists to articulate in a unique environment. As avid listeners, it’s always something to seek out through CJSW’s programming - whether it be from touring acts who are rolling through campus before hitting the stage that same night, to the local folks who continue to vibrate the pulse of our cities musical connection.

Being a part of these sessions has left us with some fine recordings to keep in our personal collections. From our last studio session with y’all (thanks for jamming all seven of us in there!), to past musical endeavors that our collective have been a part of throughout the many years - CJSW has always been there with massive support extending through literally countless branches of our community.

This not only comes with incredible thanks and gratitude for the opportunities, publicity, experiences, etc. etc. etc. that a musical group like ourselves have been offered through you all, but with confident understanding of the reach of the broad and varied community that you all have thoughtfully and collectively gathered and continue to reach. And it comes with such friendship and value from us personally much through the trust in the curators at the station, from captain to volunteer - everyone is so especially crucial to piloting absolutely the best community radio station in the world - no joke!

Writing this while currently listening to the live broadcast of "Noise" on CJSW - Live: Jairus Sharif. Holy heck can't wait for the show this Sunday night and can't believe that these ears have never been graced by these sounds." - Rifle County Players

"As a local artist, I really appreciate CJSW's live sessions. A lot of care goes into the production - and it shows! I've had friends comment that they pulled over their car when they heard our session on the radio so they could just sit and listen. Having the session recorded as a live video is also a great resource which can help with festival and grant applications. I even watched our live session video with my dad at Christmas and he loved it. It was nice to be able to impress my parents, thanks CJSW!" - Crystal Eyes

"Ill Defined had an amazing time working with CJSW! The space at CJSW was super cool to check out, and we especially enjoyed the opportunity to explore the room full of vinyl and cassettes. We felt accommodated and valued and the crew was nothing short of professional, yet casual and friendly. Ill Defined Appreciates the opportunity given to us to perform live at their studio, and looks forward to hopefully continuing working with CJSW." - Ill Defined
