CANADA'S ORIGINAL #1 CAMPUS STATION

Attn: CRABO Adjudicants

Re: Cameron Hauck - Volunteer of the Year

I'm writing on behalf of Cameron Hauck.

While his volunteer work at CIVL has been documented on our website here (<https://www.civl.ca/new-radio-show-focused-on-passion/>), it's notable that Cam now hosts or co-hosts four weekly programs, one for a senior citizen host and another for a volunteer who has mobility challenges, in order that they both have reliable and consistent teching on their programs.

He is always representing CIVL at events in the community, and learning new production and programming skills in order to assist his fellow volunteers and community members.

Cam is CIVL's volunteer of the year, and he's worked incredibly hard to get there. Beginning as a phone in co-host to discuss sports during COVID, when no one on campus was working from the offices at school, to hosting 6 hours of weekly radio, Cam has ascended to CIVL's most selfless and active volunteers, often recruiting new volunteers, being the first one in the office to welcome programmers doing morning shows, and voicing promos, teching new volunteer content, and volunteering to participate in interviews when promotional items come through the station.

Cam has sat in with half a dozen additional programs, been a Fraser Valley Music Award judge, engaged in mental health and women's rights advocacy, and was keenly covering the 5 month long Abbotsford transit strike which left many, including students, seniors and those facing accessibility challenges, without transport. He even participated in a live on air hour long interview with BC Lions Assistant Head Coach, and former Lions Grey Cup winner, Ryan Phillips, after less than a year of on air experience.

We can always count on Cam to brighten peoples' days, and there's nothing that will stop him from taking the time to see if someone needs support, is struggling, or could use someone to talk to. In a short time, Cam has begun a relationship with the station that has made as much an impact on us as the opportunity that he cherishes so much has made on him.

Cam is a selfless nominee for an award of selfless essence, and it's my honour to forward his name for this recognition in 2024. Written on Cam's 9th leap year birthday!

Regards,

Aaron Levy - CIVL Station Manager
